About Me

Jared Jenkins is a young artist from Conyers, Georgia. He dreams of being a great animator he's become well versed in many software's like Maya, Flash, Photoshop, and Illustrator. He spent 3 years learning and advancing his skills in these software's and the arts. He is influenced by cartoons and anime also, hard-working artists. He has wanted to be an artist since he was young. He started to write and draw comics with friends in hope of making a T.V. series out of it. Which has pathed the way for his art and story making which one day lead to him becoming a well know animator. Even though he is freshman in college he aspires to graduate from GSU with a degree in animation.

He's a freelancer he has done many jobs for companies which has given him experience in his field. He also plans to start his own animation company with other artists and hopes to make shows on the internet. He hopes to one day have his own T.V station or brand.
